Consultation

We want to create a landscape design that works for you and your lifestyle, so our first meeting and consultation is the most important part of the process. We will walk your yard with you and will listen and learn your likes and dislikes and what your priorities are. We will also discuss your budget and the cost of quality landscaping. While we're there, we will share photos of past projects we have completed and answer any questions you might have about our company.

- Phone consultation
- On-site consultation
- Second opinions
- Observe and listen to the customers needs and wants
- Give ideas and possibilities for the customers needs and wants (this information is limited before site analysis takes place)
- Comparative cost analysis (site visitation and plans are required for accurate analysis)
- Budgeting your project for the design process
- Quote for creating a design

Landscape Design and Presentation

You can rely on our years of knowledge and experience in design, horticulture and construction to develop a uniquely beautiful outdoor living space for you. We have designed and installed memorable gardens from modest suburban spaces to large country estates, and everything in between. Every project receives our complete attention on the drawing board until it's ready for you.

As a design/build landscape company, we design projects solely with the intention of installing them. We can complete the entire project, or we can develop a master plan that can be completed in phases.

- Site analysis includes:
 - Accurately measuring perimeter of the house locating all doors, windows and fixtures
 - Measurements of the house elevation (for elevation and 3 dimensional drawings)
 - Locate existing structures and/or fixtures
 - Locate existing trees, wood lines and shrubs
 - Topographical survey of areas to be designed
 - Photographs of the entire site (makes for excellent before pictures)
- Conceptual hand drawings
- Auto Cad drawings
- Sketch-Up drawings
- Plan view drawings
- Elevation drawings
- Three dimensional drawings
- Color-rendered drawings
- Plan revisions
- Estimates for drawings are separated into individual categories making it easy to phase your project or do it all at one time.
- Comprehensive cost analysis
- Informational booklet of materials and examples for clarity of presentation
- Presentation
- As-Built drawings and photographs of your project upon completion of work
